

CUR: First Geoscience Fellow Named

Council on Undergraduate Research

National Association of Geoscience Teachers

The Council on Undergraduate Research (CUR) has named Dr. Jill Singer of Buffalo State's Earth Sciences and Science Education department with a prestigious CUR Fellows Award. She is the first geoscientist to be recognized with this honor. She has been a long time member of the Geosciences Division of CUR. NAGT shared some of Jill's strategies for success in undergraduate research. (7/26/2016) Dr. Laura Guertin blogs about Singer's award, in her GeoEd Trek blog through AGU and shares some of what she wrote in her support of Jill's nomination.

Tags:

- geotimes, award, undergraduate, research, higher education
-