

SEG Launches New Podcast, "Seismic Soundoff"

Society of Exploration Geophysicists

In the latest issue of "The Leading Edge" the Society of Exploration Geophysicists (SEG) announced they have launched a new podcast on applied geophysics. There are already four episodes available for download. Listeners can expect to hear interviews with SEG book authors, prominent committee and Society members, past and current SEG officers, board members, and episodes will address critical topics in the field and the latest research.

Tags:

- geotimes, member society, energy resources, geophysics
-