

Published on American Geosciences Institute (<https://www.americangeosciences.org>)

Home > Now Online: Advising Strategies for Improving Employment Placement of Your Students

---

Now Online: Advising Strategies for Improving Employment Placement of Your Students

American Geophysical Union

American Institute of Professional Geologists

A recording of the most recent Heads and Chairs webinar from the American Geophysical Union and the American Geosciences Institute titled, "Advising Strategies for Improving Employment Placement of Your Students" is now online. Aaron Johnson, the new Executive Director of the American Institute of Professional Geologists, shared his experiences at Northwest Missouri State University and their strategies in advising that greatly improved the employability of their graduates and helped grow the department. The next webinar will be on November 11, 2016 and is on "Managing Alternative Program Formats within your Department."

Tags:

- geotimes, webinar, heads and chairs
-