

Investigations

This part of the site contains sets of hands-on investigations for a number of Earth science topics. You can be part of the development process for the investigations. In fact, we want feedback from you. Try these investigations out and let us know how they worked for you and what changes or additions you would recommend. Send us your comments by emailing us at education@americangeosciences.org.

Fossils

Rocks

Soils

Weather
