

Published on American Geosciences Institute (<https://www.americangeosciences.org>)

Home > AWG Offers Travel Award for Women Geoscience Students

---

AWG Offers Travel Award for Women Geoscience Students

Association for Women Geoscientists

The Association for Women Geoscientists (AWG) is offering a competitive $500 award for women geoscience students to present their research at a national or international geoscience meeting, not including the Geological Society of America (GSA) Annual Meeting. This award is offered two times each year; the application [.docx] for the first competition must be submitted by February 10, 2017. This award is only open to current students. Consider applying, and explore AWG's other awards and scholarships.

Tags:

- geotimes, geoscience, higher education
-