

GSL @geolsoc designates 2017 "The Year of Risk"

Geological Society of London

Happy New Year? The Geological Society of London (GSL, @geolsoc) has designated 2017 as "The Year of Risk," following two successful themed years. In addition to geohazards, GSL will explore the increasingly complex risks associated with growing demand for resources like water, minerals and energy.

Multiple events will be hosted throughout the year that will involve scientists, policy makers, economists, insurers, and the media. GSL celebrated the change-over from the 2016 theme, "The Year of Water," at its 2016 Bryan Lovell Meeting titled, "Water, Hazards and Risks," which was held November 24-25, 2016.

Tags:

- geotimes, hazards, natural hazards, weather hazards, water, minerals, energy
-