Collaborate with the Policy & Critical Issues programs

We invite you to collaborate with us to help support well-informed public policy and decision making with expert, impartial geoscience information. There are many ways to collaborate with us, and we've listed some options below.

If you are interested in collaborating with us in any of the following ways, or if you have an idea for a collaborative project you would like to discuss, please contact us at cipinfo@americangeosciences.org. We look forward to hearing from you!

Collaborate with us to achieve your broader impacts goals

AGI's Critical Issues program connects geoscientists with policy and decision makers, particularly at state and local levels, to support evidence-based decision making and achieve substantial broader impacts. We offer many services to support broader impacts projects, including planning and hosting webinars; publishing case studies, factsheets, and other web products; and communication and impact analysis services to boost and quantify the reach of your broader impacts work with us.

Host a Critical Issues Forum

Partner with us to host a Critical Issues forum on important geoscience issues impacting society.
