

Published on American Geosciences Institute (<https://www.americangeosciences.org>)

Home > 51st AESE annual meeting to be held in Yellowknife, NW Territories in September

51st AESE annual meeting to be held in Yellowknife, NW Territories in September

Association of Earth Science Editors

The 2017 Association of Earth Science Editors (AESE) annual meeting will be held in Yellowknife, Northwest Territories, Canada, in September. See the full announcement on the AESE Facebook page or copied below:

The Association of Earth Science Editors 51st annual meeting will be held in Yellowknife, Northwest Territories, Canada, September 6-9, 2017. The meeting is open to earth science editors, communicators, publishers, those in outreach, or anyone interested in earth science. All are welcome! More details about the event will be posted on www.aese.org as they become available.

Tags:

- geotimes, canada, member society
-