

AGU Seeks Comment on Ethics Policy #ethics

American Geophysical Union

The American Geophysical Union has completed a review of its Ethics Policy, and the proposed language now identifies harassment as a form of scientific misconduct. The changes come following the formation of a task force last June to focus on "harassment and work-climate issues." The proposed language is available on AGU's website and is available for comment through April 28, 2017.

Tags:

- geotimes, ethics, diversity
-