

Important Questions Raised in #Geoscience Currents #118

Following data collection from the Geoscience Student Exit Survey, the AGI Workforce Program released Currents #118. In it, researchers ask if geoscience students recognize the value of internships to their career. Looking at four years of data, analysts discovered that the participation rate of students in internship experiences was consistently lower than expected.

Tags:

- geotimes, workforce, currents
-