

Published on American Geosciences Institute (<https://www.americangeosciences.org>)

Home > AIPG: Geologists and Regulatory Compliance #geoscience

AIPG: Geologists and Regulatory Compliance #geoscience

American Institute of Professional Geologists

Cover of the April-May-June 2017 issue of TPG

Have you had the opportunity to explore the American Institute of Professional Geologists' current issue of The Professional Geologist? Among the many articles geared at helping professional geologists, and updated society news, this issue included a story about geologists and regulatory compliance. The article, published by seasoned geoscientist, Jan Horbaczewski (CPG-09369) provides insight from a 40 year career, condensed down to nine main ideas. Who bears responsibility for the burden of proof? What matters more, process or substance? Read the article here.

Tags:

- geotimes, member society, industry
-