Enter the Life as a Geoscientist Photo Contest!

September 19, 2018

The AGI Workforce Program has officially opened this year's photo contest where we ask individuals to submit photos of geoscientists at work. Please share this contest with friends, students, colleagues, and anyone else who may be interested in entering!

We are looking for photos featuring geoscientists in action whether that be in the lab, classroom, or out in the field. Each entrant can submit up to 10 photos and the photos can be entered into three different categories (Outdoor Lab, Indoor Lab, and Data Visualization). AGI staff will then select a winner from each category to receive a prize. Submissions are open to US and international applicants from all geoscience disciplines.

Deadline to submit is Friday 16 November, 2018!

All submitted materials (including photo, photo release form, model release form, location, and brief caption) should be sent to GeoLifePhotoContest@americangeosciences.org. Go to <https://www.americangeosciences.org/workforce/life-geoscientist-photo-contest> for more information.

Please share with anyone in your networks that might be interested in participating!
