

Published on American Geosciences Institute (<https://www.americangeosciences.org>)

Home > longitudinal ridge

longitudinal ridge

longitudinal ridge . One of many closely spaced continuous ridges elongated parallel to the current and developed rhythmically on all or part of a stream bed. Ridges are separated by regularly spaced longitudinal furrows, the separation ranging from 3 mm to as much as 5 cm (Dzulynski and Walton, 1965, p.61). Cf: rib and furrow.

Tags:

- geotimes

Website:

GeoWord of the Day
