

Published on American Geosciences Institute (<https://www.americangeosciences.org>)

Home > Lasers speed up seismic damage assessments

---

Lasers speed up seismic damage assessments

Temblor

Engineers may have found a way to measure displacement between floors of multistory buildings cheaply, accurately and in real-time, paving the way for quick analysis of the stability of critical infrastructure (e.g. hospitals, airports, water treatment plants) in the event of an earthquake.

---