American Geosciences Institute Releases Directory of Geoscience Departments, 57th Edition

Alexandria, VA — The American Geosciences Institute (AGI) is pleased to announce the release of the Directory of Geoscience Departments, 57th Edition.

The Directory of Geoscience Departments is the comprehensive source of information about geoscience departments and geoscience researchers available. The directory is invaluable for individuals working in the geosciences and all who identify or work with specialists on the issues of Earth, environment, and related fields in science and engineering.

This new edition provides a state- and country-sorted global listing of nearly 2,000 geoscience departments and institutes, as well as over 18,000 faculty and staff. Contact information for departments and individuals is provided, as well as details on department enrollments, faculty specialties, and the date and source of faculty and staff highest degree.

The directory also includes a listing of all U.S. and Canadian geoscience theses and dissertations published in 2019 that have been reported to GeoRef, a listing of faculty by research specialty, information on specific programs and certificates offered by departments, and the availability of online courses.

The new edition is $54.95 (members of AGI Member Societies can receive a 20% discount when purchasing directly from AGI). Click here to purchase from AGI. Also available on Amazon.com. ISBN-10: 0-922152-65-9
