'Building a Sustainable Geoscience Future': See AGI's 2022 Annual Report

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — The American Geosciences Institute (AGI) is pleased to announce release of its annual report, Building a Sustainable Geoscience Future, which highlights many of the impactful activities of AGI from October 2021 through September 2022 and provides audited financial statements covering the past three fiscal years.

"As this report shows, AGI is collaborating in many ways with partners throughout the geoscience community to ensure the sustainability of our federation, our profession, and our planet," says AGI Executive Director Jonathan Arthur. "Building a sustainable future for us all is the core of the geoscience enterprise, and AGI looks forward to furthering these vital efforts in the coming years."

Building a Sustainable Geoscience Future: 2022 Year in Review is available at https://www.americangeosciences.org/annual-report now.

About AGI

The American Geosciences Institute (AGI), a federation of scientific and professional associations representing over a quarter-million geoscientists, is a nonprofit 501(c)(3) organization dedicated to serving the geoscience community and addressing the needs of society. AGI headquarters are in Alexandria, Virginia.

AGI Contact:

Geoff Camphire, Communications
gac@americangeosciences.org