

New NSF Geographic and Spatial Sciences Strategic Plan Available

American Association of Geographers

The American Association of Geographers (AAG) shared that the National Science Foundation (NSF) Geographic and Spatial Sciences has a new strategic plan and new program solicitations for both its regular and its doctoral dissertation research improvement competitions. It is noted that the new strategic plan and the new solicitations replace the previous versions of these documents. More information is available through AAG.

Tags:

- geotimes, geography, nsf
-