

Investing in our Future and Celebrating Earth Champions

Resources for Future Generations (RFG2018) will be a global forum to explore the future of natural resources and the interplay among Earth, Energy, Minerals and Water — as well discussions on nontechnical themes such as Resources & Society and Education & Knowledge.

RFG2018 is looking to build a keen scientific program grounded in Geoscience. With a multi-disciplinary approach, it is critical that we all participate in this important forum in order to address the challenges we face in the sustainable and responsible extraction, management and use of Earth's resources.

Please consider submitting your abstract to this noteworthy event. The countdown is on! The deadline to submit is January 15!

<http://ow.ly/nOGy30hc8cB>

Tags:

- geotimes, blog, meeting, natural resources
-