

Understanding Your Environment: Land Use Planning Activity 6 - Surveying the Community on Land Use

This investigation will help you to:

- Reaching a Consensus on Land Use in the Community

Reaching a Consensus on Land Use in the Community

- Center of Excellence for Sustainable Development - Land Use Planning - US Department of Energy
Click on any of the topics on the sidebar menu to learn more about the key principles of land use planning, strategies for successful land use planning, tools needed for successful land use planning, and real stories of communities which have launched successful land use plans.
- "Case Studies" - Community Based Environmental Programs, EPA
Success stories and case studies about many environmental topics.
- "Land-Based Classification Standards" - American Planning Association
This site provides a description of criteria to consider when developing a land use plan, including the actual use of the land, the function of the land, types of buildings or structures which are needed, and who owns the land.

Back to Top
