

2004-2005 AGI Fellow Katie Donnelly

Dr. Kathleen Donnelly, the 2004-05 American Geological Institute Congressional Science Fellow, worked for Rep. Edward J. Markey. Markey is a Democrat serving the seventh district of Massachusetts.

Katie completed her Ph.D. in Geology at Columbia University in 2002 and she graduated with honors from the Master of Science program at the University of Otago in 1997. Donnelly moved to Boston after the fellowship where she is working at the American Academy of Arts and Sciences on their new Science and Technology Initiative. The goal of the initiative is to facilitate discussion of important and/or controversial issues in science policy.

Donnelly and the other 2004-2005 geoscience fellows are profiled in the December 2004 issue of Geotimes. Katie has written the following articles for Geotimes:

- Petrology and Politics (10/04)
 - For Starters: Lame Duck (2/05)
 - A State of Nuclear Non-proliferation (8/05)
 - A Denuclearized Korean Peninsula (10/05)
-
- policy
 - congressional geoscience fellow
 - 2004
-