Earth Science Educational Kits on Sale

Alexandria, VA—The American Geological Institute (AGI) is offering Earth Science Toolkits for $5.00 each now through the end of May, 2011.

Each year educators, scout leaders and community organizers use the Earth Science Week Toolkits to introduce students and the public to the wonders of earth science. AGI is selling these educational toolkits from several previous years at a substantial discount to encourage expanded instruction on key topics from energy and climate to outdoor learning and geoscience careers.

All available kits are on sale for $5.00 each, any quantity, from now through the month of May 2011. This price includes Library Rate shipping to U.S. addresses via the U.S. Postal Service, allowing 2-3 weeks for delivery.

Faster shipping services are available. Please contact AGI Publications for details and pricing by phone at 703-379-2480 or by email at pubs@agiweb.org. Or go to http://www.earthsciweek.org/materials/index.html to order online.

The American Geological Institute is a nonprofit federation of 49 geoscientific and professional associations that represents more than 120,000 geologists, geophysicists and other earth scientists. Founded in 1948, AGI provides information services to geoscientists, serves as a voice of shared interests in the profession, plays a major role in strengthening geoscience education, and strives to increase public awareness of the vital role the geosciences play in society's use of resources, resiliency to natural hazards, and interaction with the environment.
